A VILLAGE pub near Rugeley will be going under the hammer at an auction

The Swan Inn, in Armitage, is included in the 103 lots in CPBigwood's property sale in Birmingham on Thursday, October 22. It was reopened by Enterprise Inns in June.

According to the Campaign for Real Ale, pubs across the country are clos-ing at the rate of 29 a week. Many are being bought for conversion for other uses, often as supermarkets.

A campaign was launched in August which aims to save 3,000 pubs from demolition or conversion by getting them 'listed' as Assets of Community Value under the 2011 Localism Act, which offers them protection should their owners wish to sell.

has been a vocal critic of the closure of pubs and campaigned across the region to try to save alehouses in the West Midlands.

He has called the closure of pubs 'a depressing trend' and said it represents 'the homogenisation of society'.

Among the other lots up for sale at Villa Park is Jasmine Cottage, at 63 Bromsgrove Road, Romsley, which is on offer at £190,000 to £210,000.

Secretary of State for Work and Pensions Iain Duncan Smith made the comment as he opened a new project for recovering addicts in Cannock last week, describing it as a shining beacon for the Government.

The bedsits and adjoining tea room in High Green will give ex-addicts the chance to put a roof over their heads and work for a living. Mr Duncan Smith said the Government will aim to create similar establishments

Comedian Russell Brand is also a keen supporter of the Burton Addic-tion Centre and is backing the Re-covery House and the tea rooms. Mr Duncan Smith reserved special praise for the BAC's chief executive Noreen Oliver.

He said: "I've been supportive of Noreen for a long time and I wouldn't have missed this for all the world.

"There's going to be a government drive to get much more recovery and rehabilitation rather than just and renabilitation rather than Just putting someone on methadone, as that's not working. Noreen is a living example of what we should be doing. I think in six to nine months' time, people will come to love this centre as they already do in Burton.

"They'll come to ask themselves what they can do to help."
During the visit last Wednesday, Mr Duncan Smith said he disagreed with calculations by the Institute for Fiscal Studies (IFS) which suggested government tax cuts could see some of the country's hardest working fam-ilies up to £1,300 worse off.

Ahead of his visit a handful of Green Party members held a protest outside the building, waving placards and flags. They are unhappy over the ongoing proposed cuts.

But Mr Duncan Smith said the reforms will not mean people are worse off – as they are mitigated by other changes to the system. He said: "I don't agree with the IFS figures.

"There are areas we are looking at like raising the threshold of tax and bringing in the living wage, which will add enormously to people's incomes. We'll work with everybody to make sure people get the right choice to improve their incomes."

As the man who oversaw the impo-sition of the bedroom tax, Mr Duncan Smith has been the target of much vitriol - both in person and particu-larly on social media - but he said none of the attacks has much effect on him and he is focused on going about his work.

"I don't read Twitter," he said.

in South Staffordshire has criticised the Conservatives for turning down the chance to join the West Midlands Combined Authority.

Jeff Ashley, who represents Huntington and Hatherton, said the controlling group had 'made a big mistake and done a disservice' to residents.

The Conservative group, led by Councillor Brian Edwards, said it was proud to work with other areas but did not believe joining councils in the Black Country would benefit South Staffordshire. The authority also stressed its priority was to 'pro-

Labour group leader Councillor Sue Woodward said: "I find it staggering that the district council is still dragging its feet on this issue, especially as we now see supermarket chains, such as Lidl and Morrisons, committing to pay the Living Wage now.

"I feel strongly that the district council should be leading on this issue with a campaign to make Lichfield a Living Wage City, in a similar way to the successful campaign to make Lichfield a Fairtrade City."

Labour activist David Robertson

Labour activist David Robertson has been researching the matter, to build up the case for paying staff the Living Wage.

The data, obtained under a Freedom of Information request, showed 23 people – six per cent of the workforce – are paid below £7.85 per hour, and although women make up 52 per cent of the workforce, 75 per cent of the workforce, 75 per cent of those are not paid the living wage.

Why give all shows celebrity treatment?

A NEW business operating in the West Midlands is offering a table service with a difference, staffed entirely with "top-less or semi-naked butlers". The muscle-bound beefcakes pictured in the adverts aren't really my thing, but I'm prepared to be tolerant. As long as it's an equal opportunities employer, of course.

MUCH as I hate the nanny state telling us what to do, I dutifully complied and headed for Tesco at the weekend with a "bag for life" dangling off the hook at the back of my trolley. And after less than 10 minutes in the store, having left the trolley unattended for just a few seconds, it was gone.

I'm sure there are some genuinely poor people in the UK, and as a country we have a duty to give them all the support they need. But not many.

Many of the people who claim to be poor today would have been considered comfortably well-to-do just a generation ago, and struggling to pay for life's luxuries is not the same as living in poverty. Describing everybody who simply happens be on a below-average income as

Citizen youngsters praised

Amanda Milling with Scott Robinson, a former NCS volunteer who got a job with Advanced Personnel Management after taking part in the initiative

MORE than 700 people attended a celebration in Cannock recognising the achievements of youngsters who had taken part in the National Citizen Service (NCS).

Described as 'the experience of a lifetime' by one participant, the programme enables groups of youngsters aged 16 and 17 to volunteer their summer learning new skills and giving back to their community.

NCS is delivered in Staffordshire by Coachright, a not-for-profit or-ganisation delivering sports-based social inclusion programmes in some of the hardest to reach communities. Guest of honour at the event at the Premier Suite was Cannock Chase MP Amanda Mill-ing, who addressed the participants.

"I was hugely inspired and impressed," she said. "They are without doubt a credit to their parents and everyone who lives in the area.

"The NCS programme demonstrates how confidence can be increased and new skills learned for the benefit of others."

The participants spent time at an outdoor activity centre before fundraising in their communities to undertake social action projects.

Thankless task on A51

I DO admire and congratulate Rugeley and Brereton councils on the way they continually collect the litter on the A51. It must be like painting the Forth Bridge because of the morons who dispose of their litter. On another note, the councils continue to cut the grass verges along the road in efforts to keep the area neat and tidy. My complaint is that unfortunately the contractors tend to leave all grassed areas like ploughed fields. Surely with a little more care and attention this road could become a credit to the area.

MY wife and I moved to our current address in 1990, paying a premium for the property due to the location. Since then the traffic has increased with articulated lorries, buses etc using the lane that is just wide enough for one vehicle. The infrastructure cannot accommodate any more traffic.

There is enough wasteland in the built-up areas to accommodate the proposed developments. Please keep industrial areas for industrial and rural areas green.

ABOUT one per cent of UK land is given over to housing, and about two per cent to golf courses.

I'm not knocking golf, but those readers who feel we can't home refugees because 'we're full' might consider whether this use of land is really characteristic of a nation that is drowning under a deluge of excess people.

A sensible government would have two key aims – increasing the number of meaningful jobs and increasing the proportion of people working to those who have retired, are too young or are unable to work. We now find ourselves in the enviable position of being able to demonstrate real compassion while solving the problem of an ageing population. Welcoming refugees is a win-win situation for the UK.

Couple's joy at diamond milestone

Maureen and Peter Edwards from Heath Hayes are celebrating 60 years of marriage

MAUREEN Edwards MAUREEN Edwards waited three years for husband-to-be Peter to return from national service – now, 60 years later they are celebrating their dia-mond wedding and happy as ever. The pair met as Mr Edwards, now 81, was biking home from his job at Collis's furniture shop in Burntwood.

They were later set up by cousins, but the courtship was cut short when Mr Edwards was forced to go to Minden, Germany, on national service.

Mrs Edwards, 79, said: "He was in the Army for three and a half years. The week after he got back we got married in St Anne's Church, Burntwood.

"We lived with Peter's mum for about 18 months until we got a house, then the children came along."

The couple, from Darwin Close, Can-nock, had two children – David, 57, and Julie, 56. They also have four grandchil-dren and four great-grandchildren. The couple say the secret to a happy

"You've got to give and take a bit," Mrs Edwards added. "We don't have many arguments. As you get older you get more settled in life. We've had our ups and downs, but mostly we've had a lot of ups. He's absolutely wonderful, my husband. He's my soulmate."

Mr Edwards, who worked at Ralvern Upholstery, until retirement, said:
"We're just as happy now as when we got married. Couples get married today, they have a couple of years, and they split. Ours is true love."

Their daughter, Julie, said: "It's a wonderful achievement."

Shots pair told: You deserve sentence

geted shooting on a family home in Hammer-wich deserved every day of their sentences, top judges have said.

Rayon Elton Hyde, aged 28, of Birmingham, and Nikita Taleba White, 34, of Walsall, each got 16 years for their parts in the terrifying attack.
White, of Brooklands, Yew Tree, was the driver, while Hyde, of Church Lane Handsworth, and another fired a total of eight shots at the house.

the house.
One of the bullets ended up lodged in the doorframe of the children's play room, but fortunately no-one was

Argued

Argued

The pair denied any wrongdoing, but were convicted at Stafford Crown Court in March of conspiracy to possess a firearm with intent to endanger life and were jailed.

Last week, their lawyers argued that the sentences were 'simply too long', but appeal judges in London rejected their complaints.

Giving judgment, Mr Justice Jay said the raid had involved a 'significant degree of planning', including reconnaissance trips to the house. The lights were on when the shots were fired late on a February night last year, meaning they must have known someone was in.

He said: "Hyde fired into these premises knowing there was a significant risk that one or more persons would be in it.

"That the shots were discharged from some distance away makes no difference," the judge added.

"The judge was entitled to conclude White was involved in this conspiracy up to the hilt and didn't merit differential treatment.

"These were undoubtedly stiff sentences, but they weren't even arguably manifestly excessive." The judge, sitting with Lady Justice Hallett and Mr Justice Picken, rejected the appeals.

He said he was also encouraged by SUA's plans to develop its international links, with China for example, at a time when global events are of such importance.

Marathon man Mark sets himself new target

HAVING crossed the finishing line of 90 marathons in 90 days, you might now expect super runner Mark Vaz to throw in the towel.

For most mere mortals, running one marathon is an epic achievement following months of training

Chester, said he was 'over the moon' to have reached his initial goal.

He said: "I feel good, I feel positive. But wow, it was tough. I passed out on the line.

"Some of the route was uphill – hitting the 24th mile and having to run uphill was not ideal. But still, I got there, and I couldn't have achieved this without all my supporters."

Mark's initial 2,340-mile challenge, which kicked off in July, came about so he could raise vital funds and awareness for Katharine House Hospice in Stafford and Tommy's, the baby charity that funds research into pregnancy problems and provides information to parents.

The driving force behind Mark's efforts is his wife Tammy, who has endured six miscarriages and has found the support from Tommy's a huge help. Having already smashed the world record of running 53 marathons over 53 consecutive days he has set his secutive days he has set his

5,000 sign up to keep hearing aids

A PLAN to stop providing hearing aids on the NHS to people with mild hearing problems

NHS to people with mild hearing problems has met with strong opposition.

More than 5,000 people have signed a petition against the proposed move by clinical commissioning groups (CCGs) in Staffordshire, which was also supported by the county council. Campaigners from Action on Hearing Loss have handed in a petition, signed by 5,668 people.

Four CCGs clinical commissioning groups in the south of Staffordshire, including the boards for Cannock Chase and Stafford Surrounds, will put the plan out for public consultation.

The new policy would mean new patients over the age of 18 diagnosed with mild hearing loss – less than 41 decibels – will not be provided with an NHS-funded hearing aid. It will not affect current patients with NHS hearing aids or those affected from birth.

Editors make new start in Highlands

Free of the past. Stafford band Editors have recorded a new album. In Dream, and play Birmingham's O2 Academy

THEY came pretty close to splitting up when former guitarist Chris Urbanowicz left Editors in 2012 citing banowicz lett Lattors in 2012 citing musical differences. But now, three years on, Editors can show their true colours as they embark on the next phase of their career. The band, which formed in Stafford in 2002 and was based in Birmingham, have made a clean break with the past on fifth studio album,

It was made with Depeche Mode and Nine Inch Nails collaborator, Alan Moulder, and his influence is clear. In Dream is bigger, richer and more electronic than previous works. The album was produced in an open studio environment at Crear, in the Western Highlands, where they endured hurricane-like weather.

Bassist Russ Leath said. "Making

Bassist Russ Leetch said: "Making a record over winter was really great for us, really creative. You are stuck inside anyway. Going up to Scotland and having the elements beating and naving the elements beauing against us was inspiring."

The record will surprise some of the band's fans. It is the 'least-Editors-esque' record in their cannon. "We didn't want to repeat what we'd done before," explained Russ.

MUSIC legend Tommy Steele, who celebrates his 80th birthday next year, returns to Wolverhampton in The Glenn Miller Story next week.

The show, which brings to life the story of the 1940s American big band leader, runs at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre from Monday to Saturday as part of an 11-venue UK tour.

The pop and West End star, who was dubbed the UK's answer to Elvis Presley in the 1950s, says: "It all started after I gave a lecture to some secondary school pupils about rock 'n' roll and country music, and this little girl, who was probably about 12, asked me what it was like to sing with Glenn Miller, to which I laughed and said, 'I'm not that old!'

"I told this story to friend Bill Kenwright (leading theatre producer) over dinner one evening and he said 'That's it. The Glenn Miller Story, we can do a stage musical about it'. And when I asked him who will play Glenn Miller, he said 'You are'. Despite my protests that I am a pensioner and English, and Glenn Miller was young and American, Bill insisted and said, 'I't calls for a song and dance man — you'. I said, 'Bill, I'm too old to play Glenn Miller.' He replied 'Tommy, you're never too old.'

The showbiz veteran revealed why the role had been irresistible: "Glenn Miller is my idol. When I was a little boy my dad took me to the Albert Hall to see him. All I can remember is this wonderful sound and then came the mystery of his death. It's a great story."

Crealy Adventure Park Flying Machine

Glamping provides a Came-lot of comfort for the whole family

CAMPING had never been my By Lisa Bailey thing, but I decided to try glamping during a weekend to Crealy

Meadows in Devon.
We were staying in Camelot Village in Sir Galahad – a medieval pavilion tent. This of-fered far more comfort and luxury than you would expect under canvas. It was spacious with a double bedroom, a twin room and a set of bunk beds.

Heat and cooking was by the wood burning stove and there was light, so it was easy to find your way around. There was a farm-house style kitchen diner with a Belfast sink and all the utensils you would need.

It was a great adventure and a little bit daunting when on a walk to the toilet block you stumbled upon a full size fibreglass knight with glaring eyes guarding the campsite in the pitch black night. If medie-

Not one to go without my creature comforts for long, the toilet and shower block was certainly five star with underfloor heating and touch point showers. It also have been been been also also been been also also been been also also been been been been also been been been also been also been been also been also

The weather for the whole weekend was glorious, but it was the end of September and I think seasoned campers would have taken a few extra woollies for the evening. With a visit to Crealy Meadows, near Exeter, you also get access to Devon's Crealy Great Adventure Park next door through a secret door. A wristband allows you to visit the park as much as you like.

Entertainment for the Meadows is also at the park and live entertainment begins on Friday, October 23, to Monday, November 2. The entertainment includes a mini-disco, race night and cabaret.

There are ghostly goings-on between October 24 and November 1. The park also launches a brand new spooky attraction, Trick or Treat with the Treehouse Trolls, while Scooby-Doo visits on October 30.

There was plenty for all of us in the park with rides, including The Twister, Crealy Grand Prix, Vortex, Tidal Wave and Dino

After all our adventures and fun in the park we visited Exmouth for an hour-long coastal cruise with Stuart Line Cruises, taking us along part of the jurassic coast with beautiful views of the sea and surrounding

The Italian garden was stunning with its fountains and we looked around the Palm House – all made of glass – and looked at the eact in the Arid House.

We also visited the Countryside Museum with its traction engines, wooden wagons and Victorian kitchen. The story of agriculture over the ages was shown to us on a rolling film. For lunch, we ate on the patio of the Garden Centre and as the sun shone we tucked into a delightful homemade meal we tucked into a delightful homemade meal before going off for more exploring.

A life changing event awaits the citizens ven the mighty Coen brothers couldn't have foreseen the success of Fargo when it was released back in 1996.

It was a huge hit, won brothers Joel and Ethan an Oscar for Best Original Screenplay, and Joel's wife Frances McDormand picked up a statuette for her performance as pregnant Minnesota police chief Marge Gunderson, who is on the trail of two Eighteen years later, writer Noah Fawley used the film as inspiration for a 10-part quirky orime drama which starred Billy Bob Thornton, Colin Hanks and Martin Freeman, although it was Allison Tolman who stole the show as Molly Solverson who, like Marge, is a state trooper.

The character pops up as a four-year-old child in the new series, which acts as a kind of prequel to its predecessor. At the centre of the story is Molly's dad Lou, who was originally played by Keith Carradine; here, Patrick Wilson assumes the role.

The story is set in 1979 and Lou is a Vietnam veteran now working as a state police officer who, along with his father-in-law, Sheriff Hank Larsson, is investigating the links between a crime gang and a major Mob syndicate.

wilson is joined on screen by Kirsten Dunst and Nick Offerman, while Bruce Campbell makes an unmissable appearance as US presidential candidate Ronald Reagan.

But perhaps the biggest draw is Ted Danson, who plays Hank, and wasn't sure about taking the role.

"To be honest, I hadn't watched the first season," he says, somewhat sheepishly. "My kids all kept saying 'No, no, no, no, you've gotta watch this!' And I continued to resist, for

"But then, towards the last month of doing CSI last year, there was an offer, so I immediately devoured the whole thing in about two days. Halfway into the first episode I was just totally hooked by the characters, the writing, the acting.
"The whole model of it was so."

"The whole mood of it was so fascinating to me, and it definitely captured the spirit of the Coens, and then just took off on its own track. Then I had a phone call with Noah. The part wasn't that large when I read it, and I kept saying 'Gee, is there enough for me to sink my teeth into?' but he remained very mysterious..."

Danson sports an impressive beard throughout, and it was all his own – although he and his wife, Mary Steenburgen, weren't so thrilled by it.

"We both went, 'looks good, feels like crap!" he laughs. 'I couldn't wait to get rid of it. I liked how it looked, but it was like trying to kiss through a burlap sack."

So, instead of focusing on facial hair, Danson would prefer people tuned in to see what promises to be one of 2015's best shows.

"It has that same Fargo tone, but it's also completely different," he explains. "It has the same thing - 'How can I be smiling and grimacing at the same time through all the violence?'

"You still get to know the characters so well because of the leisurely pace. But you really get stuck into a different world – you really do time-travel back to the late 70s. And it does really have a unique voice."

Ted Danson stars in Fargo, Monday, Channel 4, 10pm

MONDAY

SAS: Who Dares Wins Channel 4, 9pm

New series. Selection for the SAS is one of the world's toughest job interviews and physical fitness is one basic requirement, but what's really being tested is psychological resilience and character as candidates undergo sleep deprivation, interrogation and a series of increasingly complex mind games. In this programme, ex-special forces soldiers recreate the selection process for 30 civilian men, with the first episode seeing the recruits arrive at an isolated barracks in Wales and are introduced to directing staff Foxy, Ollie and Colin, under the watchful eve of chief instructor Ant.

TUESDAY Building Cars Live BBC2, 7.30pm

Contrary to what some people may think or say the British car manufacturing industry is in pretty good shape. Every 20 seconds, a brand new vehicle rolls off the production line somewhere in Britain. This new two-part documentary takes viewers into the fascinating world of the car manufacturing industry, with presenters James May Kate Humble and Ant Anstead broadcasting live from one of Britain's biggest and busiest car factories. The trio will go behind the scenes to reveal the science, engineering and people that keep us on the road, with access all areas to BMW's MINI plant in Oxford, the oldest car manufacturing site in Europe, with production dating back over 100 years, where a car is built every 67 seconds, which is less time than it takes to boil a kettle.

WEDNESDAY DIY SOS: Homes for Veterans BBC1, 8pm

Nick Knowles and the team continue with their most ambitious project to date, with the assistance of the local community and two royal helpers, Prince William and Prince Harry. The second edition sees them create a home for a veteran, who is a triple amputee after an IED blew up in Afghanistan. They are also aiming to renovate the fronts of the houses on the street and put in new utilities, as well as creating a lasting legacy in the form of support centre, which will help other veterans find homes and

THURSDAY My Son the Jihadi Channel 4, 9pm

In 2009, 19-year-old Thomas Evans from Buckinghamshire converted to Islam, adopting the name of Abdul Hakim. Two years later, he left his family home in Buckinghamshire to travel to Somalia where he became the only known white British man to join Al Shabaab, an Al Qaeda affiliate iihadi group behind multiple atrocities, including the 2013 Westgate shopping attack in Kenya. This documentary was filmed over a nine-month period and charts the struggle his mother Sally and younger brother Micheal face as they try to reconcile the Thomas they knew – a loving, mild-mannered teenager – with Abdul, the jihadi-preaching fundamentalist he has become. While Micheal. who had previously been close to his sibling often refuses to speak to him when he calls, Sally refuses to give up Building Cars Live, Tuesday, BBC2, 7.30pm on her son.

The CIA Kennedy Killing: Conspiracy

Channel 5, 8pm
There have been countless documentaries about the conspiracy theories surrounding the assassination of John F Kennedy, but this programme focuses on death of his brother, Robert, who shot in 1968. His killer. Sirhan Sirhan has spent the best part of 50 years in prison for the murder, but this programme looks at the claims that he himself was the victim of a Manchurian Candidate-style brainwashing. The programme also examines the conspiracy theories concerning other high-profile deaths, including that of TV presenter Jill Dando in 1999, and the suicide of British weapons inspector Dr David Kelly. There's also a look at claims that the CIA made more than 600 attempts to assassinate former Cuban president Fide Castro, plotting to use everything from an exploding cigar to a bacteria-impregnated wetsuit.

From the four round LED headlamps and large matrix grille, to the distinctive power line and muscular haunches, the Bentley DNA is apparent throughout.

The Bentley Bentayga boasts the world's finest automotive cabin, with unrivalled levels of precision. The detailing in metal, wood and leather – including meticulous tolerances between elements of trim – is the epitome of modern British

Refinement

An all-new twin-turbocharged 6.0-litre W12 engine is at the heart of the new Bentayga. The mighty 12-cylinder unit combines efficiency and refinement with ultra-luxurious levels of power and torque. A suite of state-of-the-art driver assistance systems and infotainment features designed to enhance safety, comfort and convenience make the Bentayga an innovative, advanced and connected luxury SUV.

Innovative systems available on the Bentayga include Electronic Night Vision, which uses infra-red technology to identify potential obstacles ahead, and a Head-Up Display, which reduces driver distraction and increases safety. The Bentayga's all-new, cutting-edge 8" touch screen infotainment system boasts class-leading navigation technology, a 60GB hard drive, and a choice of up to 30 languages. Customers can choose between three different sound systems for the Bentayga: Bentley Standard Audio, Bentley Signature Audio and Naim for Bentley Premium Audio. The latter is the most powerful system in the segment, with 1,950 watts, a network of 18 speakers and super-tweeters for unrivalled recreation of the highest audio frequencies.

A combination of advanced design, innovative engineer ing and state-of-the-art manufacturing technologies - including the use of lightweight aluminium – has enabled a total weight saving of 236kg compared to a traditional body

Concepts great ideas or are they just flights of fantasy?

By Alisdair Suttee

They bring glamour to motorshows, but do concept cars really matter when it comes to the cars we buy and drive?

The motorshow season is well and truly un-der way now the Frankfurt show has kicked things off. For car makers, it's a merry-go-round of new car launches and trying to grab the headlines with outlandish concept cars, which are usually the ones to make the front pages.

It makes perfect sense for car companies to dream up concept cars as they generate column inches for a relatively small investment.

Most concept cars are either static displays that have no engine or are based on an existing model underneath but will never turn a wheel on the public road.

So, it doesn't matter if they are awful to drive as no-one will ever find out.

Technology

The other main incentives for car makers to have a concept car gracing their stand are to draw in the public and to show off some of the latest technology.

Where the public is concerned, the aim is to attract the public away from competitor stands and have them look at current models they can buy in their nearest dealer show-

For this reason, concept cars are very important because they make us feel good about a brand and the style, design or technology they offer in their cars.

From the technology standpoint, concept cars are a way to dip a toe in the water of press and public opinion. If a new bit of sophisticated techno-trickery gets a positive reaction, it makes it much easier to push it towards production. Again, this makes concept cars more important than they might

These unique show cars are also a way for car manufacturers to hint at the future styling of their upcoming new

Although concept cars tend to be extreme by their nature, you can usually decode styling cues that will appear on new models sooner rather than later.

So, having a close look at a concept car can be rewarding and interesting, but sometimes it's better to step back and take in the whole to gain a better idea of where the car maker is headed on the style front.

Some might argue that car designers are already well on their way to signing off a new design and a concept car is more of a whim than a customer clinic.

However, there have been instances when car companies have realised they have made a blunder and had to revise the production model's styling.

An example of this is the Bentley EXP 9 that most thought was awkward and gawky. While the finished Bentayga may not be to all tastes, its style is much more in keeping with Bentley's other models. At the other end of the scale are the concept cars that go from motorshow to showroom floor almost unchanged.

The Porsche Boxster and Audi TT concepts both appeared well ahead of going into production, yet when they arrived they were easily identifiable as the motorshow cars.

Both the Audi and Porsche show that if customers make the right noises, car companies are listening. It proves concept cars do matter, just as much as our opinions of them.

DS5 is a stylish class act

A car's styling is, to a great extent, a matter of personal choice: you love it, hate it or are left completely unmoved.

For me, the DS5 comes in that first category and that applies particularly to the car's interior – a mix of exclusive club lounge and aircraft cockpit. It's a pleasant, even exciting, place to be even before you press the starter button.

I've been trying self-analysis with regard to this response. Is it just different, and new (as any car can be) or is there a is it past different, and thew das any car can be) of is filled a hint of repressed nostalgia for that iconic French motor of the 50s and 60s, the Citroën DS?

To me that legendary motor, while not without its issues, was a real innovator: space age looks yet a world away from the winged wonders inspired by American cars of that era. Plus it pioneered innovative features such as hydraulic self-levelling suspension and directional headlights.

Now DS Automobiles is a stand-alone premium brand under the Citroën umbrella. Like Toyota with Lexus and Nissan with Infiniti, such a rebranding of flagship models is undoubtedly a sensible way of breaking the badge domination of the premium German brands, and Jaguar, in this sector. The DS5 tested – Presitige Blue 180hp version – at £32,040 is a prime example, a big, smooth and economical car oozing Gallic style which will certainly make its driver stand out from the crowd in the company car park. No, I can't say it looks like the original DS, but as you pass an eye over its sleek lines there are hints which stir memories for car fans of a certain age. But inside it is thoroughly modern, and unique: vive la difference, one might say.

There's the crystal clear virtual instrument display in front of the driver, while at his side is a high centre console (no, not a transmission tunnel as it's front wheel drive) which means the array of switches and gear change level fall easily to hand, just in the right place. All switches are big and solid with chromed rims.

Overhead there are front and rear sun roofs (with electrically controlled blinds) which makes the cabin feel light and airy, and give an impression that its even bigger than it actually is – in fact the DS5 will seat five adults in comfort. In front, the sun roof is split into two (both can be opened and closed individually) divided by an aircraft style roof con-sole, housing more toggle switches and controls. The seats themselves are superbly shaped, well-padded leather and multi-adjustable – some of the most comfortable I can recall.

There is a seven-inch touch screen in the centre of the dashboard, controlling satnav, audio, trip computer and a range of other vehicle functions, plus a steering wheel with remote controls. Dual zone automatic climate control. noise-reducing window glass and an upmarket sound system are also part of the luxury package,

Under the bonnet there's a two-litre turbo diesel, turning out 180bhp and a whopping 400Nm of torque which is a good combination for smooth, swift progress, with good response at low revs, It's quiet, too, rarely raising its voice above a whisper and the ride is particularly supple and comfortable, a true descendant of the DS philosophy. Its vital statistics are 0 to 62mph in 9.9 seconds, official average fuel consumption of 64.2mpg and (for a car of this size) an impressively low and tax-efficient CO2 rating of 114g/km.

The six-speed torque converter automatic gear box does its job well enough although it isn't perhaps as responsive as some of the latest dual clutch systems if you're pushing on. But then I'm not sure if this is part of the DS5's character: it's a car which seems more about the smooth, relaxed covering of distance rather than the traffic lights grand prix.

There's a long list of standard equipment, including cruise control front and rear parking sensors. rear parking camera, stability control, emergency brake assist, hill start assist, automatic headlights, and door mirrors with kerb lighting.
The other DS5 in Prestige Blue trim is the 2.0 litre six speed manual, 150bhp model which starts from £29,560

The range has a three year. 60,000 mile warranty.
The DS5 is a class act, offering a blend of performance with economy and tax efficiency. You could say many new cars do that – and that's true, but in the DS you do it in style, and dare to be different.
